Attention of Mr. Lee Stern.

Dear Mr. Stern:

Many thanks for your letter and check, also your letter of November 27th, where you had received pedigree. I was more than pleased to hear that the horses arrived in such good shape. It certainly took them a long time, and had it not been for getting them on a passenger train, would have been still worse. I can always get my shipments from Delaware, Ohio, to Ellsworth on early morning of the fourth day. No doubt you would note I put in some good lumber, and if taken out carefully, could be used for re-shipping or repair work. For such a distance I think it pays to use good lumber, though it costs a little more.

Did you get through on the freight without extra charge on the stallions? I billed them as horses, as the rate is higher on stallions.

I am very much in love with Leah Martin Farceur. She will pay the bill for the five head when a four-year-old. I would have liked to have kept her myself, but it is no country to raise and sell registered animals. If Martin's Daisy Bell and Levanch comes into the market, I will let you know. Also the filly. I would very much like to have you seen you get them, as the two fillies at your place would have been a good advertisement for my stallion. Advertise Gwynne Farceur in the Pennsylvania Farm.

It has rained every day since you left, but will have photo of Gwynne taken as soon as we get a nice day.

I am going to the potato country next week and will wire you prices Presque Isle. I can buy some extra good potatoes loaded at Ellsworth, but they would cost a little more, as they peddle them out to the smaller towns.

With kind regards, and trusting that the horses are improving with good care and feed, I remain,

Yours truly,

R. M. Hamer
